As an experienced team leader, I have a strong analytical approach. I have always demonstrated a willingness to learn new skills. My adventure with programming began a few years ago when I started learning the C++ language. I got to know web technologies closely during my studies. I am an ambitious person who pays great attention to details, familiarity with the basics of JavaScript and React.js which I am still learning. I currently gain knowledge about REST. I am a first-rate team player and I easily connect with others. My main goal is to constantly expand my knowledge in the field of web development.
